

RARE & ORGANIC

Quality Wine and Speciality Food from the Source

You bring the guests, we'll do the rest.

What is Prosecco Party?

Prosecco Party is the idea of Cinzia Long. Cinzia also runs Rare & Organic, the quality wine and food import company with her husband, James MacNay. This Anglo-Italian pair have a great passion and unique knowledge of their products and the people and places behind them.

With a background in tourism and hospitality, a love of people, and plenty of experience in public speaking, Cinzia and James are uniquely able to put guests at ease and pass on their knowledge in a fun, informative way.

Food and wine.

Cinzia is an accomplished cook whose dishes are inspired by Italian tradition and innovation.

With 25 wines in our portfolio, all carefully chosen from producers we know personally, James is able to select the perfect wines to match Cinzia's cuisine. This, too, is why we can offer Prosecco Party at such great prices.

Step-by-step.

On your initial enquiry we will agree a date and venue with you. Your 50% deposit will confirm your booking.

At this point we need to know of any dislikes, food allergies and intolerances, and if there are any vegetarians or vegans in your group.

Once your booking is confirmed, we will send a proposed menu and wine list, prepared uniquely for you. You can have as much, or as little, input in the menu and wine list as you like. Most of our dishes, and all of our wines, are Italian – for obvious reasons!

We are very happy to hear of additional guests after you have made your deposit and confirmed your menu - but please do let us know!

Most of our cooking is done in our professional kitchen, but we will need to make use of your kitchen facilities an hour or two before the Prosecco Party starts. You will need to look after your table decoration and seating arrangements, of course. We will set the glasses, (and also the crockery and cutlery if you use our rental service).
